

ABSTRACT

A frame structure to support a mirror inside a vehicle consists of a flexible, pliable yet rigid frame structure having two opposite ends, one end having an adhesive band to adhere to an interior surface of a vehicle and a second end onto which is fixedly attached a mirror.